Dr. Cheryl Marshall Appointed Chancellor of North Orange County Community College District

Anaheim, Calif. –Dr. Cheryl Marshall has been appointed the new chancellor of the North Orange County Community College District (NOCCCD). She will assume her new position on July 1.

Marshall’s appointment was announced this afternoon by the NOCCCD Board of Trustees. The Board will formally approve Marshall’s appointment at its regular meeting on February 23. “The Board is excited to work with our new chancellor,” said Dr. Barbara Dunsheath, Board President. “Though we had several well-qualified candidates to choose from, Dr. Marshall received unanimous Board approval. She has demonstrated strong educational knowledge, as well as a history of supporting student success and building community ties. We are confident that Dr. Marshall will serve the District well.”

As chancellor, Marshall will serve as the chief executive officer for a district that includes Cypress College, Fullerton College and the School of Continuing Education.

“I am thrilled to have the opportunity to serve the North Orange County Community College District,” said Marshall. “I look forward to leading the District into this exciting next phase.”

Marshall has served as president of Crafton Hills College for the past four years, and prior to that, served as the college’s vice president of instruction. She spent eight years at Mt. San Antonio College in various positions, including: associate dean of Business & Economic Development; director of Professional & Organizational Development; director of the Center of Excellence; and interim statewide director for Centers of Excellence. In addition to her independent trainer, facilitator, and project management experience, she has taught courses at Claremont Graduate University, Azusa Pacific University, Cal Poly Pomona, and California State University, San Bernardino.

Marshall's academic credentials include a doctorate in Education from the University of Southern California, a master of arts in Industrial/Organizational Psychology from California State University, San Bernardino, and a bachelor of science in Psychology with a minor in Biology, from Memphis State University (now the University of Memphis).

Marshall has served in a variety of professional organizations, including the City of Yucaipa Economic Development Committee, Association of California Community College Administrators, and California Community College Chief Executive Officers.

NOCCCD Background

Two of the state's premiere colleges and most extensive continuing education program combine to provide the quality educational programming of the North Orange County Community College District (NOCCCD). Nearly 90,000 students enroll each term at Cypress College, Fullerton College, and the School of Continuing Education. College students are able to shape their futures in programs leading to associate degrees, vocational certificates, and transfer opportunities. Life-long learning also is possible in continuing education programs that range from high school completion and basic skills mastery through an array of vocational training and self-development courses. The NOCCCD campuses serve an area of over one million diverse people – each pursuing their own, unique ambitions. The NOCCCD – Greatness. Achieved.
